Art Production Fund Debuts Artist–Designed Towels at ABMB

by Anneliese Cooper | November 25th, 2014

Those of us already preparing for Miami Beach fair week are busy taking stock of all the essentials — sunscreen, versatile day-into-eveningwear, a laminated who’s-who guide of various artworld-istas — but one such item may already be waiting for us when we get there. For the ninth year, Art Production Fund will be producing its Artists Towel Series, as part of the Works on Whatever (WOW) project. Designs by James Rosenquist and Glenn Ligon will debut at the Miami Beach’s Standard Spa next week, concurrent with the run of Art Basel in Miami Beach, from December 2 to 7. For those looking to sun in style — and/or, to sun at all without hefting a beach towel on a plane, because really now — check out Ligon’s towel above and Rosenquist’s design below.
