THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR OF SONIA RYKIEL REVEALS WHAT'S INSPIRING HER NOW

An appointment at David Mallett's hair salon (below) is wonderful. You feel you are in his home, with a garden terrace in the middle of Paris

Viewing art alongside nature at Château La Coste in France (above) and Japan's Naoshima Island (right) is an extraordinary experience

Anechoic Wall by Laurent Grasso (right) gives me the feeling of being in a soundproofed room

I love the size and the rarity of my Sixties Cartier Baignoire

This ring by René Boivin is a favourite - my mother-in-law used to wear it

I appreciate furniture design for its lines, its utility and materials. This Leon Rosen table stands in my studio
