

CULTURE » ART & DESIGN

Yayoi Kusama Brings Heaven to the Beach

W's features director has her eye on one of these towels

November 8, 2013 3:32 PM | by Alix Browne

Yayoi Kusama Towel

Lately we have been seeing spots. And the Japanese artist Yayoi Kusama is to blame. Her fantastic solo show, “I Who Have Arrived In Heaven,” opens today at David Zwirner in New York; and Art Production Fund’s latest edition of artist-designed towels, which officially launches during Art Basel Miami in early December, includes this Kusama zinger. It practically screams, “I Who Have Arrived At The Beach.”